Enabling Effective Community Healthcare

In order to address the combination of increasing healthcare delivery costs, an aging population, and a higher level of acuity in the community caseload, the trend towards moving healthcare delivery outside the walls of traditional hospitals and institutions must be accelerated—and community care providers must be included as an equal partner within the patient's circle of care. Patient encounters and clinical interventions must be shared with the circle of care regardless of where they occur. Attendees at the 6th Annual Digital Health Canada/ANHIX Calgary Winter Conference will:

- explore the issues and opportunities around delivering effective care in the community
- examine current Alberta initiatives impacting effective care delivery
- look at the technology innovations making effective care delivery possible

The conference will attract leaders, thinkers, senior executives, and individuals within the health space from Calgary and the surrounding area.

Enabling Effective Community Care: Schedule

9:00 AM	Session Open
9:15 AM -10:30 AM	Keynote: Virtual Care: Emerging Ideas, Opportunities and Risks Virtual Care currently is creeping its way into the mainstream of healthcare. It is disruptive in so many ways and on all levels of the system from policy to practice. The potential value to population health and system transformation is significant and needs strategic system thinking and leadership. Marc will frame this changing landscape with a particular emphasis on care and support outside the hospital walls. Marc Pelletier, CEO, Institute for Health System Transformation and Sustainability
10:30 AM	Break
11:00 AM -12:15 PM	Panel One: The Value of an Integrated Community Health Record A large investment is being made to integrate community health data into the Alberta provincial health record. This panel will discuss the benefits vs. the costs and how the data may be used to enable more effective community healthcare. Tim Murphy, Dr. Damon Ramsey, Barb Kathol, & Sonya Stasiuk.
12:15 PM	Lunch
1:15 PM -2:30 PM	Panel Two: Improvements in the Treatment of Mental Health in the Community Healthcare is complex, with a vast range of available services. Providing care becomes even more complex when mental health issues are also present, and mental health patients often end up in acute care settings. This panel will discuss the challenges that need to be overcome in order to better treat mental illness in the community. Doug Vincent, Dr. David Tano, & Paul Twigg. Moderated by Howard Waldner.
2:30 PM	Break
2:45 PM -4:00 PM	Panel Three: Disruptive Technologies Promising to Impact Community Healthcare Delivery In a world full of emerging technologies, which ones will enable more effective community healthcare? This session takes a closer look at some emerging technologies and debate which ones are most likely to create positive disruption. Dr. Damon Ramsey, Meaghan Nolan, Susan Anderson, Hamid Najafi, and Rohit Joshi. Moderated by Penny Rae.
